A photograph showing several badminton rackets and shuttles on a dark surface. One racket has a green frame, another has a red frame. There are three white shuttles and one broken white shuttle.

BADMINTON

Get ready to deceive your opponent. Badminton is all about tricking your opponent and is like ballet dancing, which requires a lot of discipline, strength, mind-play, and measured movement to handle the shuttle. Are you quick in making decisions? Can you handle a badminton shuttle?

DRESS CODE:

The general dress code for badminton consists of comfortable sportswear such as shorts and a sports shirt, along with non-marking rubber-soled sports shoes. Avoid jewellery and accessories that could interfere with play in tournaments, you might need to wear a team uniform with specific colours. Lastly, bring a towel and spare clothing for comfort and hygiene.
